

A wedge of glass of refractive index 1.50 is illuminated with red monochromatic light of wavelength 650 nm. When observed from above under a travelling microscope, there are 560 bright fringes per millimetre.

What is the angle, α , of the wedge?

